

AQUATIC ECOLOGY

Capability Statement

ecology & heritage
partners

Ecology and Heritage Partners has a professional team of aquatic ecologists employing proven and innovative aquatic research methods. Our experts also have an in-depth understanding of relevant legislation and an ability to safely navigate through the approval process. We can provide independent advice and services during the design, planning, development and operational phases of your project.

Our consultants maintain excellent working relationships with key stakeholders and regulatory authorities including the Department of the Environment, state government agencies, Catchment Management Authorities, water authorities, and local government.
